CASPA 20th Anniversary Conference & Dinner Banquet Semiconductor — Embracing Our Life, Leading Our Future

Founded in 1991, CASPA was initially started by a few Chinese American semiconductor professionals, who were also pioneers and innovators at Fairchild, AMD, National Semiconductor, and other corporations in the Silicon Valley. Fascinated by the game-changing business model of fabless operations and dedicated semiconductor foundries, these trailblazing CASPA founders had vision of bridging global business opportunities and talents across the Pacific Rims that ultimately led to the birth of CASPA.

In the past two decades, CASPA has grown to become a prestigious and essential platform across the Pacific for semiconductor professionals to promote technology innovation, nurture business collaboration, bridge technology communication, and bring job opportunities to individuals in CASPA communities. Today, CASPA is a place for engineers and scientists within the community to share friendships, brainstorm new technologies, incubate business ideas, and ultimately reciprocate contributions back to CASPA communities. CASPA has flourished throughout last 20 years with sponsorship, membership from many influential companies and individuals, as well as many significant activities all year around across the United States, Mainland China, Taiwan and Singapore.

With great honor, CASPA has invited several distinguished visionaries and pioneers as keynote speakers in this anniversary conference. These speakers have made significant contributions to the breakthrough and growth of semiconductor industry. They will share their unique insights and experience in the semiconductor field, as well as their visions on how discoveries in fundamental technologies can propel technology growth in future directions such as cloud computing, social networking, and advance user interface.

Most important, CASPA founders and former presidents will also come to the event and share with audiences their visions of CASPA's future based on their experience, wisdom, and achievements during their CASPA tenures in the past 20 years.
